

US National Committee to the International Cartographic Association Invites Applications for Travel Funding to the 26th International Cartographic Conference

Dresden, Germany
August 25-30, 2013

The US National Committee (USNC) to the International Cartographic Association (ICA) invites American scholars and international scholars at American institutions to submit applications for consideration for travel funding support to attend and participate in the 26th International Cartographic Conference (ICC) in Dresden, Germany, August 25-30, 2013 (<http://www.icc2013.org/>). The USNC supports a number of U.S. scholars to attend the ICC through a competitive evaluation based on submitted abstracts, a short vita, and career standing (with young scholars given priority). The deadline for applications for these awards is November 15, 2012, the same as the deadline for submission of papers to the Local Organizing Committee in Dresden.

The abstract and a short vita are the only information required for consideration, although all supported scholars are required to develop a full paper by the conference deadlines and provide the USNC a short statement of participation and benefits after the conference. The total number of scholars supported is contingent upon the available funds. Preference is given to young scholars (graduate students and those completing the Ph.D. in the last 5 years). Partial support for maturing scholars (5 to 10 years past the Ph.D.) and some senior scholars also is available and the amounts and number of scholars supported depends on the success of the USNC in securing funds from the National Science Foundation, commercial companies, government agencies, and societies. The USNC encourages diversity in participation and welcomes applications from women, minorities, and those with disabilities.

Acceptance of abstracts for funding support from the USNC is contingent upon acceptance of the abstracts by the ICC. Thus, notification of USNC awards will be made in January 2013 after the ICC determines acceptance of abstracts in December 2012.

For consideration for funding support, simultaneous to submitting your abstract to the Dresden Local Organizing Committee, please submit a copy of the abstract and a short (1 page max) vita or resume as an email attachment to E. Lynn Usery, Chair of the USNC, usery@usgs.gov. Include abstract and vita/resume in a single pdf or Word document. Please name the document "lastname ICC Dresden Abstract.pdf (or .doc or .docx)" where lastname is the lastname of the first author. The USNC will only consider one abstract per author, including co-authorship. Single-authored abstracts by young scholars are given preference.
