Georgia National Fairgrounds

GJLF officials will take official weights of the pop tabs and will keep official records for all participating school or chapter throughout the contest.

The GJLF is proud to host the Pop Tab Collection Community Service Project for the Ronald McDonald House. Randy and Beth Daniel of Partisover Ranch have graciously donated a set of bar livestock scales to the school or chapter that collects the most pop tabs during the contest period. The contest runs now through February 2014 at the Georgia National Junior Livestock Show. The last collection time will take place during the Georgia National Junior Livestock Show in February 2014.

The Ronald McDonald House serves families whose children are receiving medical treatment at local hospitals. It offers them a homelike atmosphere where they can get the rest and renewal they need to be supportive of their sick or injured child. Even though the House has a 90% occupancy rate the requested room donation covers only about 3% of the actual expense of maintaining the House. Community support is essential to generate funds necessary to cover the House expenses.
