

#AGPROVIDES

Help us promote the positive message that agriculture is essential in the global fight against food insecurity. During the next four weeks, join us on social media using the hashtag #AgProvides.

---

Today, one American farmer feeds over 130 people
-International Food Information Council Foundation

Beef and other meats more closely match the needs of the human body due to present amino acids
-Field & Taylor

In 2012, 7.8 million households with children were food insecure at some time during the year
-USDA

29.7 million Americans live in low-income areas that are more than a mile from the nearest supermarket and lack access to healthy foods
-USDA

The current world population of 7.2 billion is projected to reach 9.6 billion by 2050
-UN

When incomes drop and family budgets shrink, food choices shift toward cheaper but more energy-dense foods.
-Drewnowski & Eichelsdoerfer

---